Message from the President

In 2016, the Wilmot Historical Society continued steady progress towards enhancing its collections, including recording history in video. At our website, on the Attic page, you can view live interviews with some residents who contributed significantly to Wilmot's history. This fall, Our One-room School House Reunion Cracker Barrel program entertained and educated all attendees. A special thanks goes to Liz Kirby for the time and effort she put into this very successful program. Also thanks to Lindy Heim who coordinates our Curiosity Shop at Wilmot Farmer's Market last summer, which helps to fund our video projects. Community support through contributions of cash, artifacts, and ideas is always welcome. Take time to send in your membership dues today on the form below. We always welcome new members. Marc Davis - President

The Life and Times of Loretta Rayno

Loretta Rayno arrived in Wilmot when she was in the sixth grade. Brought up on a farm, she was familiar with agrarian life and helped her step-dad take care of the animals and tend the garden, but she knew from an early age that she did not want to be a farmer's wife!

Right out of high school Loretta enlisted in the Women's Army Corps (WACs) and did not come to live in Wilmot permanently until she married Stanley Rayno in September of 1960.

In a video recorded in June of 2014, Loretta relates the fascinating story of her time as a WAC, how she came to work for Freedom Acres, and how she met her future husband at the Wilmot dump! www.wilmothistoricalsociety.org/attic/.

Latest Video Project Completed

The latest video in the Memories of Wilmot series is near completion. Funded in great part by the Barnard Foundation of New London, we are most grateful for their continued support.

In a separate video of Loretta Rayno's story, she tells how she came to meet Kay White and Donna Niles and became involved in their world famous jelly business.

The Freedom Acres video should be available on our web site by the end of January. Also on the photo page is a link to our Shutterfly account where you will find many photos of Kay and Donna and their home and business on the Old Winslow Road.
